DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over APA (Applicant's Prior Art-figure 1) in view of (Massie USP 5,650,715). APA discloses the claimed invention an apparatus/method for a power supply switchover device during a transition from quiescent to active mode of operation except for the use of a sample hold circuit to store values of the sampled input voltage. Massie (see figure 5) discloses that it is known in the art to provide the use of a sample hold circuit to store values of the sampled input voltage to aid in the control of the linear regulator circuit. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to provide combination of the teachings of Massie and APA in order to arrive at a PWM linear regulator that has a sample hold circuit to have the input circuit be more responsive to changes at the input circuit and provide better compensation to the output circuit.
